The Get to Know Your Cricut Maker Series This is the second of 4 posts all about Getting to Know Your Cricut Maker. Links to the others below: 1. Cricut Maker Unboxing 3. Cricut Maker Very First Project (link to come) 4. Cricut Maker and Design Space as a Newbie (link to come) Cricut Maker Setup with My iPad? Yes, Please. You can set up your Cricut Maker with a laptop/desktop or an iPad or iPhone. I'm not really interested in designing anything on my iPhone screen because of the small size. I love my iPad, though, and use it quite a bit. Since the Maker has Bluetooth technology, why wouldn't I want to pair these two items up? Cricut Maker Easy to Follow Instructions You might remember from the first video that the Cricut Maker came with an "Open Me First" envelope. In there, you will find the step that gives you the exact URL to go to for your set up. There is a Cricut Design Space app that you will wind up doing all of your set up in. I'm a bit of an over researcher when it comes to an investment like the Cricut Maker. Naturally, I crept on everything I could, including downloading the app in advance. The path from typing in the provided URL to getting into setup mode on the app was absolutely seamless. I didn't have to guess at what I was doing or if I was in the right place at all. With my son by my side, we followed all the prompts to a successful Cricut Maker set up. One Tiny Hiccup We only had one tiny hiccup during the whole process. That was knowing what the pin code was. There is a part in which entering a code is needed. You will see in the video above that we figured out it was 0000. I honestly don't remember how we found that out. If you find yourself in the same situation, however, give 0000 a try. © Cricut Maker in Rose The Video Describes it All There really isn't much to write up about the Cricut Maker set up process. I highly suggest that you watch the video, though, so you can see as we go through the steps. The video is embedded above or you can click here to watch. I know some people like to get as much info as they can before making a purchase like the Cricut Maker. (I am one of those people) This video is for you. You can see just how easy it is to start working on it. Cricut truly gets you ready for success. On the other hand, if you have purchased your Cricut Maker, but haven't set it up yet, watching this video will reassure you that you can get going right away. The Cricut Maker does so much that it CAN be intimidating to get started with it. Going through the easy Cricut Maker setup, though will boost your confidence for sure. It was a huge undertaking for 12 family members and an 10 day trip. We had matching shirts for each day in the park and for traveling and even for dinners. We utilized the design space and a laptop to create the shirts and other accessories. Our very first shirt was amazing, honestly we knew it was great but the comments we received said it all.Since our trip I've seen so many amazing ideas and projects from others via FB groups and other social media threads that I follow. It's inspired me to stretch my creativity beyond my own comfort zone and I have met some defeats but many many successes. Recently I purchased an iPad and downloaded the design space app. I'm having to learn where all the tools are, just like I did on the laptop version, this one seems less glitchy. I hope I don't jinks myself. I also purchased the Procreate app to use with my Maker, I haven't used it as of yet. But I'm creating a birthday project for my niece as I type this where I plan to.I'm just sorry that I didn't learn about Cricut years ago. My Mom and I have thoroughly enjoyed every single moment creating things with this machine, and we look forward to many many more. A couple months ago my mother found a Cricut expression at a yard sale. She bought it for $30 and it came with 12 cartridges and no power cord or blade. She knew that this would be something right up my alley. We didn't do our research and didn't realize that the machine was basically obsolete as far as buying blades and equipment. We made due with what we could get and I was having a blast. I had so many ideas which I quickly realized were going to be hard for me to execute with what I had. We managed to pull together the money for an explore air 2. I have already made quite a few projects and I'm working on a more intricate one for my husband. I love using the cricut design space on my iPad. So far I prefer to work from my iPad than the computer. I have only come across two issues. One- when I am uploaded an image from my photos and pre editing it, my image will go completely white. The first 5-6 times it happened I got really angry closed out and started over. Then I realized my undo button was still there and it fixed it. Two- This one is more human error than anything. I have lost two projects because I was a dummy and did not save my projects at frequent enough (or at all) intervals, then my app would glitch I would have to restart the app and come back to my project selections and it was gone. Either way I am so happy to have bought this machine and can't wait to see what my crafting future holds. @@@ Even the sky is no limit with the things you can create in Design Space and the Cricut Explore Air 2! I hope to upgrade to the Maker, but that will only happen when my beloved Explore Air 2 device dies. This is a GREAT machine and so much can be done with it using Design Space. I love this combo; but buyers beware - you NEED to be willing to take time to learn about the features of the machine and how to use Design Space in conjunction with the machine by watching hours of tube videos. For me this has never been a problem devoting time to tube videos. I watched a lot of videos and read many reviews before committing to the purchase of this machine. I read so many reviews from folks afraid to take the machine out of the box when it arrived and I believe that is because not enough research was made on the product prior to its purchase. If you bought it don't be afraid of it! Inbox it immediately and start watching a video on a project you want to try. I have had many failures and failures are learning techniques; think of it that way. There is a whole world of crafting waiting for you!!
